

Army of Hunters Greet Bird Season

"Hunting birds" has been the topic of conversation since last Friday when the season opened for pheasants, partridge, rabbits and other small game, in the lower peninsula.

For everything outside of pheasants local nimrods stayed at home to hunt, while for this fine bird several made trips into pheasant country for the sport, to try their luck. Seems that the number of hunters this year is much larger than formerly, with many reporting the limit of birds for the first day.

Among those from Grayling who went in search of pheasants were Grant Thompson and Frank Schmidt who hunted near Flint. Mr. and Mrs. Ronnow Hanson enjoyed hunting at Twining, visiting the latter's sister, Mrs. Guy Ried. Mr. and Mrs. Harold Edwards drove over to East Jordan, for hunting and visited the latter's parents.

Ted and Bill Callahan in company with Henry Jordan of Saginaw hunted at Merrill, guests at the Arthur Schwind home. James Post went to Maple Rapids; Mr. and Mrs. Clare Smith and family spent the week end in Lansing, visiting the former's parents, Mr. Smith going for hunting. Adolph Peterson and brother-in-law Fred Bromwell of Lake Leelanau hunted at Sandusky, Mich. Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Papendick, Leo Lovely and Miss Edith Golinck of Roscommon hunted Sunday and Monday at Wheeler, Mich. Jack Papendick and Matt Bidvia were also at Wheeler for the week end.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Parsons and son Ernest and Mrs. Parsons' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Babbitt spent the week end in Lansing, the gentlemen going for pheasants. Rollo and Peter Pailing, John McMillan and Truman LaVack went over to Rose City Saturday. Edwin Carlson and Roy Smith hunted at Gladwin; George Bielski, Earl Koivenen and William Golinck made Caro their headquarters; Chris Hoesli, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Trudeau, and Clement Blaine hunted at Ithaca. Clarence Czykyski enjoyed the hunting around St. Clair.

Amos Hoesli hunted at Mt. Pleasant in company with his brother Kenneth, the latter who is a student at C.S.T.C.

The Kerry & Hanson flooring mill, with a lot of ardent hunters among the crew, did not operate Saturday, so that many went to their favorite haunts early Saturday morning for a couple of days sport.

We have learned of only one hunting accident, which was but a minor one, and that was Peter Failing who received a dose of fine shot in his leg and hand, accidentally let loose from the gun of a hunting companion at Rose City.

Esbern Hanson, Adolph and T. P. Peterson went in quest of ducks Tuesday at St. Helen.

Forest camps are open on sites in State reserves for hunters during these camps may be had at district conservation headquarters or from Forest superintendents. They are free to the public.

RANDOM THOTS

We are wondering who, after the new Postoffice is opened, will be the first to find himself trying to post a letter in the old familiar spot.

Let's not worry too much about what the world is coming to. It may run into a detour any minute.

We'll bet it will take more than three guesses for a lot of Grayling people to name the street they live on.

You won't have to hunt hard to find people around Grayling who don't believe in the law or anything else when it interferes with their own interests.

When is the season for going to church in Grayling? We hear alibis because of fishing, summer vacationing, hunting, holidays, and winter sports.

A cold plunge is different from anything else, in that you get out faster than you went in, and feel better for the experience.

Only those who get joy out of their work know what real happiness is.

Sandy Thompson wants to know if he has to eat both the sundae, at the new AuSable Dairy Bar, at the same time!

Were you ever expecting a real letter, and then had handed to you a bunch of circulars?

We heard a girl about town say, when asked to borrow a match, that she had nothing but the habit of smoking.

The "editor" says it's nice to have so many friends when you're in the hospital.

Silence wins the battle.

If the way the memberships are being paid to the Chamber of Commerce is significant of the interest in the town, then there isn't much interest.

We are scared to death now that it will snow, and in a few months we will be praying for the snow to beat the special trains here.

HOSPITAL NOTES

Mrs. Lorane Jerow, of Gaylord was dismissed Tuesday, after having been a patient for several days.

John Perry of Kalkaska was dismissed Monday having recovered from injuries received in an auto accident.

Harold Barber, nine year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Barber, underwent a tonsil operation at Mercy Hospital last of the week.

Dr. F. E. Rifenburg of Gaylord is reported as getting along very nicely.

Claude Horning, little son of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Horning, was dismissed after being at the hospital since Thursday.

Lansing—Michigan's first snow flurries, arriving in mid-October to herald the coming of winter, were worth hundreds of thousands of dollars to merchants.

With crops throughout the state of near bumper proportions, farmers are in improved financial spirits.

Industrial workers also have more money in their family budgets due to improved earnings.

The net result is an old-fashioned buying urge as residents shop for winter clothing and household furnishings.

According to Draper Allen, managing director of the state board of tax administration, Michigan's gross retail sales are one-billion dollars ahead of last year. The percentage gain is 10.4 per cent. And that means happy days truly are here again.

The state report on rising retail sales is further proof that Michigan today ranks above the national average for business.

Dun & Bradstreet reports that retail sales for the country as a whole are 5 to 18 per cent above that of the same period in October, 1936. Despite the automobile strikes of last spring Michigan motor manufacturers stepped up production over 1936 to match the public demand for better cars.

Henry Ford again made news by emphasizing his faith in Michigan as an ideal industrial center. He announced the forthcoming expenditure of 40 more billions at his River Rouge plant. A clue to the tough job facing the U. A. W. in unionizing Ford workers is seen in a declaration by Homer Martin, U. A. W. leader, defending the Dearborn industrialist against charge of unfair treatment of his employees.

Ford, the lone independent of N.R.A. days, continues to be a phenomenon in American commerce.

Michigan Agriculture
While drouth conditions still exist in many parts of the West, inducing more families to seek an economic haven along the Pacific coast, Michigan growers fared rather well this season. Surrounded by water on the west, north and east, the lower peninsula enjoyed regular rainfall when it was most needed.

Michigan crops boosted the state's 1936 rank in the nation for eight leading crops: Corn up from 15th to 11th place; winter wheat, 12th to 9th; potatoes, 4th to 2nd; and peaches, 9th to 4th. Increases were also reported for spring wheat, buckwheat, apples and pears. Sugar beet production, however, dropped from 3rd to 6th place and rye from 5th to 8th.

Michigan also rates 2nd in field bean production; 3rd in grapes; 4th in pears; 5th in apples, alfalfa hay and buckwheat; 6th in tame hay and sugar beets; 7th in flaxseed and clover and timothy hay; 8th in rye; 9th in oats; 10th in barley, and 15th in spring wheat.

Considering the fact that Michigan ranks 26th in the nation for acreage of farm lands, the 1937 showing is distinctly complimentary.

Consumer's Dollar
This prosperity for Michigan farmers is good news for the industrial worker, and for several interesting reasons.

Roadside stands are filled with produce from orchards and gardens. Prices are attractive.

According to the U. S. Bureau of Agricultural Economics at Washington, the average employed worker now has a yearly income $207 larger than in 1932. This higher income makes possible the payment of about $85 more for food, leaving $122 for other items in the family budget.

Farm prices dropped more than half from 1929 to 1932. Even out, causing the car to turn over. While Mr. Hanson escaped without injury, Mrs. Hanson is a patient in Mercy Hospital where she suffers a fractured collarbone and from shock. The car is badly damaged.

Gold in Alaska
Gold was discovered at Juneau, Alaska, in 1880, but the great Klondike-Yukon rush did not begin until 1896.

though prices are higher in 1937 than in 1932, the Michigan farmer is getting 6 per cent less than the average share he received during the years immediately before the depression.

How about the city dweller?

The Michigan industrial worker can buy about 12 per cent more goods than in 1929 after paying for his food. Today he has an economic edge over the farmer.

C.I.O. Test in Detroit
Will the C.I.O. seize control of the Detroit city government next month?

This is a question that many persons—politicians in particular—are waiting eagerly to have answered by Detroit voters.

If the C.I.O. is victorious, Michigan manufacturers face more uncertainty. The outcome may have a bearing on Governor Murphy's decision as to when the second special session should be held to consider a labor relations act.

E. L. Oliver, field marshal of the C.I.O. movement, announced that "every industrial center of Michigan" was to be unionized. Confronted with ballot trends towards liberalism, the Detroit city council has authorized the construction of low-cost homes. This smacks outright of municipal socialism—something which industrialists of yesterday would have denounced righteously. But times are changing. The Detroit housing experiment may prove to be sound insurance against labor unrest.

Michigan continues to hold the national spotlight. The C.I.O. showdown in Detroit is of supreme importance to both sides—capital and labor—and to the forgotten public who usually pays the bill.

Quick Marriages

Next week on Friday (Oct. 29) Cupid will have to be disinfecting. Michigan's prenuptial physical examination law, aimed to curb the costly curse of syphilis, becomes effective on that day. Persons must obtain a clean bill-of-health from a physician before the marriage ceremony can be performed.

Michigan, Illinois and Wisconsin have similar laws today. Indiana's Gretna Greens have been reaping a big commercial crop in get-married-quick licenses and ceremonies. It looked like Michigan's new law would merely add to the Hoosier harvest until the Indiana attorney general dug up an old law of the horse-and-buggy vintage limiting licenses to home counties of the bride-to-be.

Leon in the Limelight
For the sixteenth time since he took office, Secretary of State Leon D. Case has been plagued with unfavorable publicity.

First came a Detroit newspaper attack on the innovation of giving automobile license numbers with the secretary's initials, "LC" to his friends.

Mr. Case merely laughed, denying that he had ever campaigned against this practice while seeking office.

Then Barnard Youngblood, deputy secretary, resigned in a huff following a clash with the Detroit office manager. Youngblood reconsidered, and everything was again serene.

When a group of discharged employees started to picket the Detroit office, seeking reinstatement in their jobs and charging discrimination against the C.I.O., George A. Krogstad was called in as chairman of the state department of labor and industry. Krogstad failed in efforts to settle the row; union spokesmen charged "scandal"; and Secretary of State Case demanded an investigation by Attorney General Raymond Starr. But unfavorable publicity fails to disturb Secretary Case. A newspaper editor for many years, he is unruffled by the news in the daily press.

American College of Surgeons Convene

DR. C. G. CLIPPERT TO BE MADE A FELLOW OF THE COLLEGE

The story of the founding of the American College of Surgeons and of its development and expansion is one which illustrates the growing appreciation among surgeons of the advantages of co-operation.

As the day of the extreme individualist has passed in the fields of science, industry, finance, government and social service, so it is passing also in the professions such as medicine in which so much of the time a man necessarily works alone. The student in training depends upon the knowledge and experience of others, but when he becomes a practicing surgeon the majority of his decisions and his acts are based upon his own initiative. The entire responsibility is often his. Assistance he has, to be sure, both human and mechanical, but his is the directing genius in a battle to save the most important thing on earth—human life itself.

The pioneer in surgery, like the pioneer in settling America, was a rugged individualist. Pioneer life demanded individualists. Courage was the prime virtue in exploring the human body and trying to restore it to health, just as it was in conquering the wilderness. With a meager knowledge of anatomy to serve him as a sort of map, the pioneer surgeon plunged bravely in and by simple though painful expedients fought disease and injury, usually without any benefit of consultation. His methods now seem crude but were no more so, comparatively, than those of the farmer of his day viewed in the light of the modern science of agriculture and animal husbandry.

In pioneer days people in every walk of life were much more positive about their knowledge, much more sure of their abilities, than most of us are today. The conditions of life were simple—easy to understand and to cope with if one had but sufficient boldness and vigor. Increase of knowledge has complicated our surroundings and made adaptation to them more difficult. It has also brought the realization that our internal organs are far more complex than our forefathers ever imagined.

In all our seeking after knowledge, the greatest thing we have learned is that the deeper we search the more we find to lead us on to search further. The goal of certainty often recedes as we seem to approach it. We need constantly to re-examine, in the light of new knowledge, all previous premises and conclusions. This is as true of our own bodies as it is of the universe. We know much more about them today than we ever knew before, but we are also acutely aware that there is a great deal we do not know. The more we delve into their intricacies the more humble we become, and the more we recognize that working singly we are working ineffectively, selfishly and unfairly. As the depth and scope of medical knowledge increase, the individual's ability to digest and apply it is naturally less and less sufficient.

The American College of Surgeons came into being twenty-four years ago when a group of prominent surgeons were so stirred by the need for a means of co-ordinating and increasing their professional knowledge, and elevating the ethics of their profession, that they decided to form an association for that purpose. Specialism in surgery had begun and was bringing new problems. Discoveries were being made so fast that no one man could keep up with them. New techniques were being developed too rapidly for the individual surgeon to master them unaided. Unethical practices such as fee-splitting existed. Too often the patient was operated upon first and his illness diagnosed afterward. A bewildered public had no way of determining who was a conscientious and competent surgeon and who was not. So a movement was initiated to unite the outstanding men of the surgical profession in an organization with high requirements for admission to Fellowship and with high ideals for the advancement of surgery and service to humanity.

Fellowship in this association, signified by the initials F. A. C. S. after the surgeon's name, was conceived of and is still regarded as a guarantee to the public of surgical aid of the best character. The American College of Surgeons is a college in the original sense—an institution for the furtherance of knowledge through

MISLEADING SALES TAX CARDS ON DISPLAY

In an opinion just filed by Attorney General Raymond W. Starr he sustains the objection made by Draper Allen, Managing Director of the State Board of Tax Administration to the recent display by merchants throughout the state of printed cards purchased by them through certain retail associations, headed "Michigan State Sales Tax," which cards contain what purports to be a new or changed sales tax bracket rate, effective September 7th, 1937, of 1c on all purchases starting at 15c, instead of 1c commencing at 17c.

The opinion holds that the issuance and display of such printed cards is illegal, and that the State Board of Tax Administration may prevent further use, distribution and display of same, through issuance of an injunction, as follows: "It is my opinion that in case you could establish that such cards misled the public into believing that the State Board of Tax Administration adopted or approved the same, or legislative Act authorized such new schedule, that your Board could undoubtedly enjoin the further use and distribution of such cards."

And the opinion further suggests that all sales tax licensees throughout the state, and also the public, be advised by the Board that the new sales tax bracket schedule was not adopted or approved by the Board, as follows: "I would suggest that you advise your sales tax licensees throughout the State, and also the public, that the proposed new sales tax bracket schedule was not adopted or approved by your Board."

Regarding the old bracket schedule, as well as the new one, the opinion holds that: "... the Sales Tax Act does not establish any bracket schedule or other method or system for the collection of the sales tax by the seller, but merely provides that the seller may reimburse himself by, 'adding to his sale price any tax levied hereunder,' as per Section 23 of the Act,"—and that the seller may therefore "reimburse himself by adding to his sale price the amount of the sales tax levied under the Act, provided, however, that the seller cannot, under the Act, apply any schedule or system so as to collect a greater amount of tax than he is required to pay to the state", of three per cent upon gross sales less certain statutory deductions.

NOTICE OF SPECIAL ELECTION

Notice is hereby given that a Special Election of Grayling School District No. 1, of Grayling Township, will be held in the assembly room of Grayling High School, on Monday, October 25th, 1937, 7:30 o'clock P. M. eastern standard time, for the purpose of voting on the following proposition:

Shall the board of education of School District No. 1, Township of Grayling, County of Crawford, and State of Michigan, provide adequate facilities for transportation of pupils within the school district?

☐ Yes
☐ No
Signed: Roy O. Milnes,
Secretary, Board of Education.
Dated: October 19, 1937.

mutual stimulation and exchange of experiences. In actual practice it has not only performed this function, but has gone beyond it as circumstances arose which made it desirable that the College assume leadership in activities directed toward improving the practice of surgery and the environment in which it was performed.

The first formal convocation of the American College of Surgeons was held in Chicago on November 13, 1913.

Grayling was honored at this meeting on Nov. 13, 1913 by having the late Dr. Stanley N. Insley made a charter member of the American College of Surgeons.

On Oct. 21, 1932 Dr. C. R. Keyport was made a Fellow of the College.

Recently Dr. C. G. Clippert, having complied with the requirements of the college, was elected to fellowship. He will have this honor conferred upon him at the annual convocation of the college to be held in Chicago the week of October 25, 1937.

Requirements for Fellowship
Eligible to fellowship in the College are worthy surgeons and surgical specialists who can meet the requirements for admission. At least seven years must have passed since the applicant's graduation from an accredited school of medicine, one of these years having been spent as intern in an approved hospital; in addition, he must have had post graduate study and adequate experience.

Special Election Mon. Eve, Oct. 25

TO VOTE UPON IMPORTANT QUESTION

People residing at Lake Margrethe have petitioned Grayling School District No. 1 of Grayling township for a school bus to transport children from that vicinity to Grayling High school. To settle the question a special election is being called to be held at 7:30 o'clock, at the auditorium in Grayling High school next Monday evening, October 25th.

The proposition to be voted upon is "Shall the board of education of School District No. 1, Township of Grayling provide adequate facilities for transportation of pupils within the school district?"

There are fifteen children living there and parents feel that they should have transportation. We understand that this would not put any burden on taxpayers as the money for transportation is furnished through the state department specifically for schools.

KIWANIS HEAR TALK ON LAUNDRIES

Holger F. Peterson, having just returned from Cleveland where he attended the American Laundry Institute of Technology, gave a very fine and interesting talk on the subject of laundries at the regular meeting of the Kiwanis club Wednesday noon.

Mr. Peterson told how the laundry business has grown from the shirt and collar jobs until now it is an item on the family budget. Today it is a business of science and is so improved that the finest of linens and fabrics are taken care of in a better way and can be done up finer than they can in the home. He told the different processes that bundles brought in are put through to assure the best results.

He said laundries have done a great deal to protect the buying public in regards to clothing and linens by forcing manufacturers of such goods to put the guarantee stamps on their merchandise as to fastness of color and the assurance that materials have been shrunk before being made up. In the old days laundries were the goats for all bad manufacturing and paid the losses until they just couldn't cope with it any longer. Today the manufacturers are cooperating and we are assured of better merchandise with better laundering result.

Mr. Peterson said, "Grayling has as nice and well equipped laundry as there is anywhere in the north and there is a constant aim for betterment of the plant, in order that patrons may have the best laundry service."

The laundry business of today has reached eighth place in national industry. "So," said Mr. Peterson, as his closing remark, "it is a big job."

SENATOR COUZENS

In honor of the late Senator James Couzens, Michigan set aside the week of October 17-23 in commemoration. Senator Couzens endowed the "Children's Fund of Michigan," giving the under-privileged children of the state health opportunities they could not otherwise enjoy.

In one suburban district with which we are familiar, a dental clinic was established where much needed dental work was done for these children, eyes were examined and glasses fitted; infected tonsils were removed; and funds were even allotted for shoes, underwear, clothing and a milk fund. One little boy, who had suffered from very poor vision all his life, with a cataract on one eye and poor sight in the other, received treatment for removal of the cataract and expert attention to improve his eyesight, giving him a chance to live a normal life. During one summer, aid was given this community for a supervised playground for all children.

Accomplishing so many good things for children benefits the whole state and nation.

MICHIGAN HAILED FIRST AS TRAVEL STATE

Michigan's beaches and bathing beauties, fish and forests proved more potent in luring tourist dollars than the famed sunshine of Florida or movie queens of California, it was disclosed at the annual meeting of the East Michigan Tourist Association Tuesday of last week.

Michigan's estimated tourist income of $315,000,000 for 1936, latest year for which comparative figures are available, was almost $50,000,000 greater than that of California, its nearest rival, with an income of $267,111,638. Wisconsin placed third with $200,000,000 and well-advertised Florida received less than one-third as much as Michigan from its pleasure seeking visitors.

The estimates were prepared by the American Automobile Association.

Unofficial estimates prepared through the co-operation of State departments and tourists associations place the State's tourist income for 1937 at $400,000,000.

Bruce Anderson, Lansing hotel operator, was chosen president of the association.

Other officers elected were T. P. Peterson, of Grayling, first vice president; Howard Smith, of Port Hope, second vice president; H. B. Johnson, of Oxford, third vice president, and James Driver, of Midland, fourth vice president.

Grayling was represented at the meeting by Chris Olsen and T. P. Peterson and they report a very fine gathering of over 500 interested people.

Salt Can Be Made Useless Matthew 5:13 reads: "Ye are the salt of the earth; but if the salt have lost his savor, wherewith shall it be salted? It is thenceforth good for nothing, but to be cast out, and to be trodden under foot of men." Salt is a definite chemical combination of two elements, sodium and chloride, and cannot lose any of its flavor. But it can be rendered useless by mixing it with foreign matter. Perhaps that is the meaning of the loss of savor in the Bible story. In ancient times salt was the symbol of purity.

The Michigan Mirror

Non-partisan News Letter Michigan Press Association By GENE ALLEMAN

Lansing—Michigan's czar of state finances, Governor Frank Murphy, is demonstrating that he means business in trying to balance the budget.

Faced with the prospect of a $18,000,000 deficit due to legislative generosity in granting requests of home pressure groups, Murphy asked for and received extraordinary power from legislators, before they adjourned, to trim appropriations as he saw fit.

In the matter of finances, the legislature abdicated. Invested with all the authority of a financial dictator, the governor has reduced an estimated deficit from $18,000,000 to $3,000,000. President Roosevelt announced last week that the federal government would balance its budget beginning July 1, 1938. Governor Murphy is determined, so he professes, to maintain the "financial integrity of the State," in 1937.

Budget Director is Republican

President Roosevelt's appointment of two Republicans—Jacks and Wallace—to his cabinet has an equal, in spirit at least, to Governor Murphy's appointment of Republican Harold Smith to be budget director. The selection of Smith was particularly disappointing to expectant Democrats, and it has not been altogether "one happy family" to have a Republican in the position of slashing legislative appropriations and then receiving the governor's public praise for doing it.

Speaker George Schroeder has been touchy about this situation, claiming that legislative prerogatives were being usurped by a state.

It has been a bitter pill for some legislators to have Smith, a Republican, become the recipient of commendation by the governor for doing something which the democratic-controlled legislature failed to do.

Labor Trouble Grows

The nomination in Detroit of the C.I.O. candidate for mayor has given fresh impetus to the growing labor movement in Michigan. It presages new and determined efforts of the C.I.O. to organize workers in industries throughout the state. It increases the likelihood that Governor Murphy may call the next special session of the state legislature sooner than next January for the primary purpose of passing a labor relations act.

Michigan's present law prohibits picketings. Under the labor relations bill passed by the state legislature but vetoed by the governor, picketing would have been legalized although restricted to employees who were on strike. It would have been illegal to block the entrance or exit of any building.

Saginaw was one of the many cities in Michigan to experience labor trouble. At the Fame Laundry company plant, 50 members of an A.F. of L. union were prevented from entering their place of work by striking employees of a competing laundry, all of whom were members of the C.I.O. A court injunction was ignored by the C.I.O. workers.

C.I.O. organizers are busy in Grand Rapids. At Port Huron the police attempted to enforce an injunction writ against pickets. Many picketers were injured. At Eaton Rapids a woolen mill has been idle for many months, due to labor demands for higher wages.

Thus the labor movement grows in Michigan. Results of the Detroit primary demonstrate that the C.I.O. is still a powerful factor. . . one not to be lightly ignored.

Farm Prices Dropping

Industrial workers are getting $70,000,000 more weekly in their pay checks, and prices have been climbing steadily. For automobiles alone, consumers will pay more.

But while commodity prices have been going up, farm prices have been going down. Farmers must pay out more, yet receive less.

The state cooperative crop reporting service, for example, points out that on Sept. 15 the price of wheat was 10 cents lower than on a corresponding date a year ago; dry beans were $1.50 less a hundredweight; potatoes, down 70 cents a bushel; apples, off 25 cents a bushel. The industrial worker will pay less for food, but the farmer will have to pay more for industrial products.

Price-Fixing Fails

Legislative attempts to tinker with the economic law of supply and demand are plaguing Michigan grape growers.

Along with an act setting up a retaliation tariff on imports of beer, the 1937 legislature passed a bill setting a price of $55 a ton which wineries must pay in cash for Michigan grapes. Wine manufacturers who bought grapes in lesser quantities were to be taxed 50 cents a gallon.

Price-fixing has been tried before with little success.

Here's how it is working out for the grape growers this fall. Nature provided a bumper yield to the tune of a 7,500-ton harvest. The open market price is $8 a ton.

Why then, the $55 price? That's just the rub. Sixteen per cent of the Michigan harvest is at stake in the latest demonstration that law-makers can't control supply and demand no matter how hard they try.

Newspapers Take a Bow

In these days of increased governmental spending, it is news when someone voluntarily returns unexpended money.

Newspapers of Michigan received $10,000 from the state last year for the purpose of advertising the state through a four-day tour this summer of newspaper editors, members of the National Editorial Association.

A special train was chartered. Nearly 300 editors were taken from Detroit to Mackinac Island.

Michigan editors who took the tour paid a higher rate than the visitors. Members of the tour committee paid their own expenses, rather than use state money.

The net result was the presentation to Secretary of State Leon D. Case at a Lansing luncheon last Friday (Oct. 8) of a check for $2,629.57. Newspapers voluntarily refunded more than 26 per cent of the state appropriation; much to the surprise of politicians. Again the sanity of newspaper editors is being questioned.

Low-Priced Homes

Michigan's booming automobile factories, setting a pace for general improved economic conditions, have created a widespread housing shortage. In fact, the National Lumber Manufacturers' association is authority for a statement that Michigan leads all other states "by a wide margin" in home building interest.

Construction is centered mostly in low-priced homes.

The shortage has been acute in many cities, leading to mushroom trailer camps and inducing a trailer concern at Mount Clemens to build "trailer cottages."

Muskegon's success in stimulating building of homes has brought inquiries from a number of Mid-West cities. Holland rates high also. One lumber dealer in Holland has built 35 houses priced from $2,700 to $4,000—all since Jan. 1.

Duke Knows U.S.A.

The forthcoming visit to Detroit of England's former king, the Duke of Windsor, and his American-born wife is another confirmation of the international prominence of Michigan in world commerce.

When foreigners come to the United States for the purpose of getting a cross-section understanding of America, they always include these four cities on the list:

New York City, world's greatest metropolis with its towering skyscrapers.

Chicago, capital of Mid-West agriculture, home of the stockyards.

Hollywood, world center for motion pictures.

Detroit, world motor metropolis.

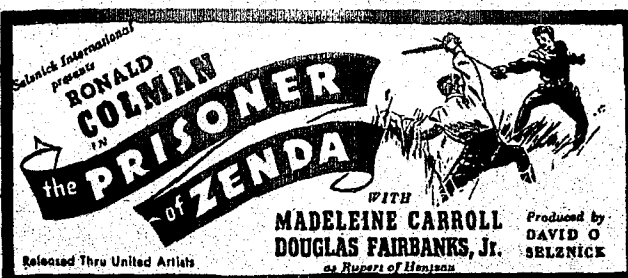

Because of the automobile, Michigan will be host next winter to Edward and Wallie. Their visit should be worth millions to the state's growing tourist business.

Between fifty and seventy-five dogs will vie for honors at Alpena over the Alpena Golf course, Sunday, October 24 when the second annual Coon Dog Trials are held. Entries from every section of Michigan indicate a much larger field than in 1936 when thirty-five hounds entertained a crowd of more than one thousand persons in the first chase this section of the state has ever seen. Looks like the sun is going to shine today and it's the first time since Sunday. It has been raining a drizzly rain since Sunday night, with high winds. Tuesday night there was a regular gale that began early in the evening and lasted all night. The only damage that we have learned that resulted from it was a large poplar tree that was blown down in the Paul Feldhauser yard. Luckily the top of it just grazed the roof of the garage.

The directors of the Grayling Winter Sports Inc. met Wednesday with M. C. R. R. officials, W. E. Frackelton, assistant general passenger agent, and Mr. Charters, both of Detroit. No conclusion was reached, and therefore this will be brought up again in the future.

MANNERS OF THE MOMENT

FEMININE shoestring problems are nothing to masculine shoestring problems, we hear. It's probably because the men have more shoestrings to handle. Anyway, we've learned on good authority that most men's shoestrings get into hard knots sooner or later. And it is rumored that wives find it difficult to quiet the frustrated untiers of knots.

Well, here is our advice to wives of men whose shoestrings won't untie.

First have some scissors handy. Keep your eye on the man who is grappling with the knot. Don't step

Be on Hand With the Scissors When He Gets Tied Up in Knots.

In too soon for him must be given a chance to feel his independence. When he gets to the point where he gives the shoestring one tremendous yank and then glowers at it, hand him the shears without a word. You know then that he is mad enough to ruin a pair of shoestrings willingly. Everything will be fine after that.

But perhaps you'd better have an extra pair of shoestrings tucked away in your sewing basket in case his destructive tendencies have worn off by the next morning.

FIRST AID TO THE AILING HOUSE

By Roger B. Whitman

RADIATOR COVERS

NOT long ago I saw some tests made on a new type of radiator enclosures. The results showed that these enclosures cut down the heat thrown off by a radiator by nearly one-half. The enclosures were ornamental; they were better looking than the radiators. But cutting down the heat by one-half means the chilling of a room in which they might be used. There is no satisfaction in this, of course, for a radiator is intended to supply heat.

A radiator delivers heat in two ways; heat is radiated from the hot metal just as it is from a fire or the sun, and heat passes to the room through the upward flow of air that is heated between the radiator sections. An enclosure with a solid front prevents the radiation of heat from the metal. A cover over the top of the radiator prevents the free upward flow of heated air. Even the best of radiator enclosures check the heating effect to some extent, but a checking of nearly one-half is entirely too great to be considered.

For the greatest heating effect, the front of an enclosure should be an open grill that will not check the radiation of heat from the metal. Not long ago I saw a home-made enclosure; a wood frame with the front filled in with diamond metal lath. This interfered very little with the radiation of heat, and, painted with the rest of the enclosure, was very attractive in appearance.

For a full flow of heated air, the top of an enclosure should be open, or at least be of open grill-work. The alternative is to have a solid top, as much higher than the radiator as the radiator is deep, and with its front open. Heated air will then have room enough to pass out horizontally. The lower part of an enclosure should be open, so that there can be a full flow of cool air from the floor.

An enclosure should not be bought for its looks alone. First consideration should be given to the extent to which it may cut down the heating effect of the radiator.

ARCHIE LOVELY BURIED WITH MILITARY HONORS

Archie Lovely, who served his country in its time of emergency during the World War was laid to rest in Elmwood cemetery Friday morning with military honors. Services were held at St. Mary's church, Rev. Fr. Moloney celebrating the funeral mass. Comrades served as pallbearers and there was a delegation of members of the American Legion present to pay their last respects. Mr. Lovely was a member of the American Legion and it was through the organization's efforts that he gained admittance to the Marine Hospital, six months ago, when he became seriously ill. His illness dated back however to the time he served his country in France, when he became ill and was hospitalized there for six months. He had been in ill health since that time.

Mr. Lovely was born in Grayling 45 years ago, the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Lovely and this had been his home since. His survivors are a foster sister, Miss Cecelia Lovely, who is training for nurse at a hospital in Grand Rapids and who came to be in attendance at the funeral, and a host of uncles, aunts and cousins. The remains were accompanied from Detroit to Grayling by an aunt Miss Marie Lovely.

HUNTERS, BE CAREFUL!

Lansing, Oct. 13.—Be careful! That is the advice of state conservation authorities here to those who go afield in Michigan this fall to hunt small game.

The use of extreme caution by all hunters, says the department of conservation, should help to reduce the number of persons annually killed or injured by the accidental discharge of hunting arms.

During the small game hunting season of 1936-1937, there were 14 hunters who lost their lives and 19 others who were injured in the accidental discharge of firearms.

Statistics indicate that the average hunter may have as much to guard against in the handling of his own weapon as in the carelessness of other hunters. Eighteen hunters who were killed or injured during the small-game season last fall and winter were the victims of others, while 15 received injuries, some fatal, as a result of their own carelessness in handling guns.

Some boys who live at Sterling took Wm. Leng's Chevrolet car and abandoning their own Chevrolet by the old O'Dell farm. Mr. Leng's car was later run into a telephone pole at Sterling. It seems fit for junk only. Just what the insurance company will do to the boys has not yet developed.

On Thursday, soon after the fire was lighted in Wm. Leng's restaurant kitchen, steam was generated in the water front and pipes sufficiently so that the stove was completely wrecked by an explosion. In fact, the whole kitchen presented the appearance of a general wreck. Through freezing or some other cause
